Business Outlook Appears Good

Top Industrialists See Rapid Recovery

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — Among the country's top industrialists, apprehension over the business outlook has been replaced by high optimism and even some fear that the recovery may go too far, too fast.

That view was expressed privately by some members of the Commerce Department's Business Advisory Council, made up of the heads of nearly 100 of the country's biggest corporations. The council opened its fall meeting here with Secretary of Commerce Weeks.

Those interviewed agreed almost unanimously that full recovery is in sight, but they expressed fear that it will bring a revival of strong inflationary pressures.

Said one influential BAC member: "I hope we don't move directly into another big boom. The stock market already has gone wild."

Optimistic Appraisals

Weeks and other high government officials were understood to have brought to the weekend conference—from which reporters are barred—optimistic new appraisals of the economic outlook.

Some of the Washington experts, it was learned, believe the country will achieve a record production rate in the neighborhood of 450 billion dollars annually in this final quarter of the year.

They also foresee for this month another substantial drop in unemployment, comparable with the decline of nearly 600,000 in September.

If this estimate is correct, joblessness would be reduced to about 3½ million, a considerable improvement from the average of

Eljer, Bliss Employees Lauded

General Chairman Albert Hanna today lauded the employees of the Eljer Division of the Murray Corp., who doubled their contributions this year to the Community Chest.

"Through the adoption of the payroll deduction system, the workers at the Eljer plant and office gave twice as much as they did last year," Mr. Hanna said.

Workers at the Bliss Company, where the payroll deduction plan is functioning, chest donations also have shown a substantial increase over a year ago, he pointed out.

"A number of other offices, some of them small by comparison, have instituted the payroll system of giving to the chest and we are highly encouraged by this volunteer demonstration," Mr. Hanna added.

Episcopal Church Heavily Damaged By Lightning Bolt

A bolt of lightning struck and heavily damaged the Episcopal Church of Our Saviour at 870 E. State St. this morning at 9:45 during a severe electrical storm here.

Fire Chief Clarence W. Wright said no fire resulted but considerable damage was caused to the roof and the main structure.

The Rev. T. G. S. Whitney, pastor of the church, reported six holes were made in the roof by the bolt and the wiring system thrown out of service. He could give no estimate of the damages.

Police halted traffic on E. State St. between Vine and Rose avenues for about 30 minutes while firemen were inside the structure.

Employees at the city sewage plant off Beechwood Road said .86 inch of rain fell during the night and this morning.

Hail stones the size of marbles descended in that district and other nearby areas this morning.

The city water department received no reports of flooded basements, and no power failures were reported by the Ohio Edison Co.

The Ohio Bell Co. said the storm caused minor troubles to its system.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower left today on a flying six-day trip to the West Coast to put pep into his party's drive to recapture control of Congress.

His plane, the Columbine III took off at 9:20 a. m. (EDT).

The President starts his first 1958 campaign swing with a

The concluding speech of the presidential tour will come Wednesday night in Chicago.

3 Days of Mourning Remain for Pius XII

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The symbolic empty coffin of Pope Pius XII was returned today to the center of St. Peter's Basilica for a Requiem Mass beginning the last three days of mourning.

The coffin had been in the Chapel of the Choir since the late pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church was buried Monday in the grottoes beneath the basilica. It was moved from the chapel at one side of the huge church to a position before the Altar of the Cathedral Chair.

Marcello Cardinal Mimmi celebrated the Mass. He was assisted by four other cardinals—Gregory Peter Agagianian, Angelo Roncalli, Joseph Wendel and James Francis McIntyre, the latter the archbishop of Los Angeles.

The nine-day mourning will end Sunday when U.S. Secretary of State Dulles and other representatives of foreign governments will attend the Requiem Mass.

Dulles is scheduled to fly into Rome Saturday. Unconfirmed reports circulated in the Vatican that he might hurry to St. Peter's to attend the 10 a. m. Mass Saturday in a private capacity.

In London, flags were a half staff on public buildings as the official Solemn Requiem Mass for the Pope was celebrated at Westminster Cathedral. Queen Elizabeth was represented by the Duke of Norfolk, Britain's Earl marshal and premier duke, who is one of the country's leading Catholic laymen.

Formosa Confab Would Follow McElroy Talks

Formula for Easing Crisis in Quemoy May Be Discussed

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles plans to make a quick flying visit to Formosa next week for talks with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek of Nationalist China.

Informants who reported this today said Dulles probably will fly to Taipei from Rome where he is to attend memorial services for the late Pope Pius XII.

Dulles' visit would follow up talks by Secretary of Defense McElroy with Chiang. McElroy was reported discussing a formula for easing the Quemoy crisis, possibly including withdrawal of some of Chiang's 85,000-man garrison from the island.

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Nike-Hercules missiles, the most deadly U. S. antiaircraft weapon, will be turned over to the Chinese Nationalists in a year to 18 months, when they are trained to use them.

Maj. Gen. Leander L. Doan, commander of U. S. Army forces on Formosa, announced the transfer plans today. He said Nationalist soldiers are training in the United States to handle the missiles.

A battalion of U. S. Army missilemen is building launching sites.

Modernization Of Ohio Valley Is Urged On

CINCINNATI (AP) — Harry M. Mack of Cincinnati, president of the Ohio Valley Improvement Assn. today warned members of the organization against complacency in their efforts to modernize the Ohio River and speed up flood control plans.

"Having enjoyed a measure of initial success, we may become complacent," Mack said in a speech at the association's annual convention here. "I urged you to believe that the most difficult task lies ahead."

Reviewing the history of the association Mack asserted that water resource development programs had lagged during the depression years and during World War II.

He added that the OVIA started a revitalized program in 1953 and that Congress appropriated funds to start work on seven water resources projects in the Ohio Valley.

"For fiscal 1959" he added, "Congress appropriated funds for 25 projects in this valley, including funds to continue construction of five of the great replacement dams on the Ohio and to start the sixth—Pike Island."

"That is at least one measure of our accomplishment," William J. Hull, chairman of the association's legislative committee, also reported on efforts of the OVIA to extend its river modernization program.

"Our members will appreciate, I am sure," he said "the vital significance of the overall Ohio River modernization program of the fiscal 1959 appropriation of initial construction funds for the Pike Island locks and dams."

"With implementation of this appropriation, six of the proposed 19 replacement dams will be under construction on the Ohio. These six projects account for nearly two-fifths of the length of the Ohio and represents more than one-third of the estimated total cost of the program."

SALEM BUS IN MISHAP

A bus owned by the Salem Bible Institute of RD 2, Salem and a parked auto owned by Cowan W. Heard Jr. of Wheeling, W. Va., were damaged slightly in a traffic mishap Thursday at 5:55 p.m. in East Liverpool, police of that city reported.

The operator of the bus, James J. McVey, 42, of East Liverpool, told police the side of each vehicle was scratched.

Police Trials Will Continue

Judge Rejects Bid To Quash Cases

The East Liverpool police burglary trials are scheduled to resume Monday at Lisbon unless a higher court writ is obtained by the defense to postpone the trials.

Refusal by Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard Thursday to quash the seven indictments against three former officers and an ex-special officer, cleared the way for the start of the trials.

Unless higher court action intervenes, Ira Cunningham, 51, and Robert Carroll, 35, former policemen, and Jerome Raimond, 31, one time special officer, will go on trial Monday for the 1952 entering of the Burbick Hardware Store.

The three men and Louis Stutler, 35, another former officer were indicted in 1956 for a series of burglaries. Stutler is slated for this term of court on a separate indictment handed down for a 1954 entering of the hardware store.

Attorneys for the police defendants argue that the cases should be quashed because they were not tried within the period allotted by Ohio law.

Trials for the ex-policemen had been scheduled to start last Monday but Judge Buzzard postponed the start of the trials pending his ruling on the motions for dismissal of the cases.

Three Shot to Death In Mountain Cabin

MINAM, Ore. (AP)—Three persons were shot to death in a dingy mountain cabin Thursday night. A little girl later was found crying near the bodies of her parents.

The father of the 3-year-old girl was William T. Nickels, 53, whose body was found sprawled in an open doorway in a kitchen littered with dirty dishes.

A few feet away lay the body of his wife Dolores, 40, who had begun divorce proceedings a few hours before.

The third victim was Miss Billie Johnson, 25. Her body lay face down on the rough board floor of the cabin's living room. All were from Enterprise, the county seat in northeastern Oregon.

Police had dashed to the house after Archie Conrad, 53, a mill worker, had crawled 300 yards to a neighbor's house for help.

Conrad, wounded in the shoulder, was taken to a hospital at La Grande, 40 miles south of here.

"We don't know yet who did the shooting," Sgt. C. J. Casciato said. "We will question Conrad as soon as he comes out from the sedatives."

However, one state policeman, T. J. Botner, talked with Conrad briefly before the wounded man was put under the heavy sedation.

"Conrad said he and the two women were in the house when some guy came in and shot the women," the patrolman said.

Conrad owned the house where the shooting occurred.

70-Man Uprising Quelled

Denver Police Foil Jail Break Attempt

DENVER (AP) — Seventy prisoners, at least one of them a confessed murderer, made a desperate but vain bid to escape from the Denver County jail late Thursday.

More than 100 officers, armed with submachineguns, riot shotguns, tear gas and football helmets quelled the uprising in little more than two hours.

Four guards suffered cuts and bruises. None were believed seriously injured. The prisoners were uninjured and suffered only from heavy doses of tear gas.

The end came when the last of some 25 prisoners who had holed up in a penthouse atop the jail's maximum security block apparently retreated through the same small hole they had cut to gain entrance during the riot's early confusion.

The men who took refuge in the brick enclosure housing the jail's air-conditioning system and those who stubbornly held out in the cell block were a shouting, howling mass of humanity. They protested what they termed brutal treatment from guards.

Guards discovered the hole in the cell block ceiling leading to the penthouse shortly after the riot broke out. As darkness closed in, Fire Department spotlights showered the small structure with daylight brilliance and a stream of tear gas shells was fired into the penthouse.

Blake Target Of Attack by Jay Hunston

Walter Jay Hunston, Republican candidate for state senator, speaking at political meetings here Wednesday and in Martins Ferry Thursday night, called upon the voters to help him "restore respect, pride and dignity to the office of state senator" by defeating Arthur Blake, Democrat, in his campaign for re-election.

"The people of the 20-22nd district have respect for the office of state senator and they are going to demand the same respect for the man who holds the office," Mr. Hunston said, adding "we must remove those persons who hurt the office by their personal actions."

Mr. Hunston said it is a matter of court record that Senator Blake was indicted by the Belmont County grand jury on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident Feb. 27, 1956, near Bridgeport, after previously being involved in a traffic accident in 1955 when his car hit and injured a pedestrian in Belaire.

"In that instance," Mr. Hunston charged, "a jury returned a personal injury judgment against Senator Blake and then the senator filed bankruptcy. All this is a matter of record in the Belmont County and federal courts."

DiSalle Criticizes Highway Department

YOUNGSTOWN, OHIO (AP) — Michael V. DiSalle, Democratic candidate for governor, asserted in a speech here Thursday night that never had the Ohio Highway Department been so completely political as it is now.

Despite Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill's remarks that Ohio is first in interstate highways, DiSalle declared:

"Actually, Ohio is second in construction, second in the amount received from the federal government and 17th in miles completed," he added.

"Under the interstate program only 30 miles were complete on Aug. 10 in the entire United States. There must have been that many miles of press releases on the program in Ohio. To date the governor has not cut a ribbon on a single project."

Soviet Fishing Boat Sinks Off Scotland

WICK, Scotland (AP) — A Russian fishing boat broke up and sank in a storm off the Shetland Islands today. Soviet officers and Scottish seamen tangled over what should be done with three survivors.

The Russians insisted they should not be taken to British soil. The Scot who rescued the three insisted they were taking no orders from Russians and landed the survivors.

At least three Russians were known dead and Scottish coastmen feared the toll would rise to 22. The Soviet craft was believed to have carried a crew of 25. She was among a fleet of 30 Soviet fishing boats in the area.

Scottish seamen manned coast guard boats when they got the SOS from the Soviet trawlers.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Three small children and their mother, members of a prominent family, were shot to death Thursday night.

Atlanta Police Probe Jewish Temple Blasts

ATLANTA (AP) — Police may present to a grand jury today the evidence gathered in the investigation of the dynamite blast at Atlanta's Jewish temple.

Capt. R. E. Little, one of the leaders of the concentrated police probe, hinted that might be the most favorable move in view of court action to free five men already held in the case.

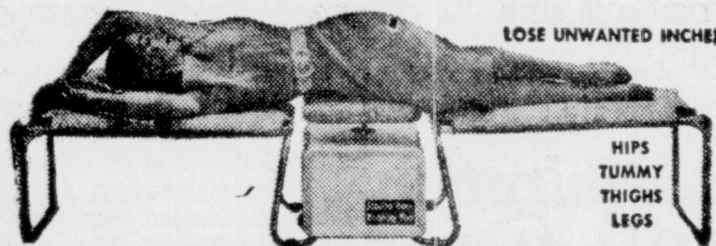

Attorneys for the five are seeking their release on grounds they are being detained illegally. A hearing on the writs has been set for today.

Meanwhile, FBI agents were assisting police in the search for the person or persons who set off a big bundle of dynamite at The Temple before dawn Sunday.

Four of the five men held are charged with suspicion of vagrancy. They are listed as George right, 35, Luther King Corley, 62 Robert A. Bowling, 25, and Kenneth Chester Griffin, 32. The fifth man Wallace H. Allen, 32, is charged with suspicion of dynamiting, a felony which can carry the death sentence.

Earl Mather and Walter Bauman were elected for one year. L. S. Strawn, oldest member, who resigned, was voted a life member and an honorary fire chief. William Bauman Sr. is fire chief and George Ailes is Assistant fire chief.

A 100-foot well has been drilled and the new building, being erected on French St. to house the equipment, including a room for meetings, is half completed. It is constructed of cement block with a brick veneer front.

A refrigerator, heating stove, dishes, and tableware are needed. A cabinet, sink and gas stove were donated by H. O. Stanley.

DEVOTIONS WERE conducted by Mrs. Paul Stanley when the Rebecca Coleman Missionary Auxiliary of the Friends Church was entertained by Mrs. Everett Cat-tell on Tuesday. Mrs. Elizabeth Stacy gave a report of the Women's Missionary program which was presented at the Ohio Yearly Meeting of Friends.

The new Rest Home committee is composed of Mrs. Melvin Hoffman and Mrs. R. L. Lautzenheiser.

It was decided to attend the revival services at the Friends Church as a group on Nov. 11, which will take the place of the next meeting.

The program in charge of Mrs. Paul Stanley was presented in the basement, which was decorated to represent a bazaar in India. Mrs. Cattell, hostess, returned missionary from India, described the different things on display. Refreshments, consisting of Gujia and tea, an Indian food were served.

ALASKA'S CONTRIBUTION — Australia gave us the omnipresent hoop and now the Alaskan Eskimos are getting into the act with a sort of bolas of the South American Gaucho. It can also be likened to a yo-yo. Sharon Orbeck of Fairbanks demonstrates the bolas (or yo-yo, or whatever) in Washington, D.C. As it is swung up and down, one ball goes one way and the other ball the other. So far, they're made only by the Eskimos.

Salineville School Children Inoculated

LISBON — Fifteen of 32 first graders at Salineville School received small pox vaccinations on Thursday at a clinic conducted by the County Health Department.

No pre-school clinic was held at Salineville last spring or summer. Dr. C. S. Palmer, county health commissioner, also administered 10 triple and three double immunizations and six booster shots.

Dr. Palmer was assisted by Mrs. Mary Alice Rumberger, county health nurse, and four Parent-Teacher Association mothers, Mrs. Alta Brandy, Mrs. Elma Feth, Mrs. Doris Adams and Mrs. James Roberts.

Dr. William V. Sulks of East Liverpool made the dental examinations for the county health department.

Q—I am eligible for WAR Orphans Education. I've just been discharged from the Army although I am still under 21. If I take War Orphans schooling, will my VA allowance come directly to me, or must it be sent to my guardian, since I am under age?

A—VA would send the allowances directly to you, since it has ruled that in your status as veteran you may receive payments personally, even though you are under age.

Q—My state recently gave me a bonus and I am drawing pension from the VA. Do I have to count the bonus money as income when I fill out VA's income questionnaire the first of next year?

A—You do not have to report state war bonuses as income in determining 1958 income for VA pension purposes.

Q—I have a Korean GI term insurance policy, with the letters "RS" before the policy number. I understand that by a new law these policies may soon be converted to permanent insurance. How soon can I make the change-over? How much of the new-type permanent insurance will I be allowed to carry?

The law permitting holders of Korean "RS" term policies to convert to permanent insurance becomes effective January 1, 1959. The maximum amount of permanent insurance you may obtain under the new law is limited by the face amount of your present policy.

Newport, Ky. Policeman Dies In Gun Battle

NEWPORT, Ky. — The holdup of a loan company office here touched off a savage downtown street gun fight Thursday which left a policeman and the holdup man dead.

The officer killed was Patrolman Stanley Pitakos, 34, father of three children. The fleeing holdup man, identified as Roosevelt Dawson Jr., 27, of Cincinnati shot Pitakos in the chest when the officer ordered him to halt.

Other officers rushing to the scene, then pumped 15 bullets into Dawson's body. Dawson was a Negro.

Police said Dawson, who bought a gun at the loan company office Wednesday, entered the place shortly after noon Thursday. He herded three persons to the side of the room and grabbed $114. Norbert Ridiman, an employee, entered the office at that time and Dawson fled after firing a shot at Ridiman.

Nathan Shostack, proprietor of the loan company, fired three shots into the air to attract attention. Moments later Pitakos spotted Dawson hiding in a doorway and was killed as he ran to ward the man.

Detective Chief Leroy Fredericks and Detectives Pat Clafardini and Kenneth Jones arrived on the scene at that time. They said Dawson fired at them and all three of the officers returned the fire. Police said five shots had been fired from Dawson's gun.

Pitakos, a native of Dayton, Ohio, had been a member of the Newport Police Department for six years.

Brown, Tracy and Saxbe

Ohio has been lucky over the years in having a succession of good administrators in its specialized state offices.

Three of these offices must be filled in the election this year—secretary of state, treasurer and attorney general.

The duties of the three offices are so professional in nature that they might very well be performed by appointed officials making careers in public law, government and accounting. This explains why Ohioans make a practice of re-electing state officials who do a good job.

Ted W. Brown, candidate for re-election as secretary of state, is generally conceded to be the best supervisor of election machinery Ohio ever had. This is the principal duty of the secretary of state. If the state had to hire the most qualified man in sight for the job, it would hire Ted Brown. He should be kept on the job by popular consent.

Roger W. Tracy has the same qualifications in the office of state treasurer. He is the best man in sight for a job he has proved he can perform capably. His speciality has been upgrading personnel and introducing modern methods in Ohio's principal book-keeping department. He should be re-elected without question.

The incumbent attorney general, William Saxbe, also has shown outstanding competence in running an efficient department and should be kept on the job. We think sometimes Mr. Saxbe is so conscious of the way the gubernatorial lightning hit some of his predecessors that he invites it to him, too. But perhaps he cannot be blamed for knowing what happened to John W. Bricker and C. William O'Neill after they quit being attorneys general in Ohio. His Democratic opponent, Mark McElroy of Cleveland, an attractive newcomer in state politics, is perhaps the stronger candidate on his ticket.

The fourth state office that Ohio voters must fill, besides the governorship, is lieutenant governor.

Paul M. Herbert, the Republican incumbent, should be the choice of all voters who favor the re-election of Gov. O'Neill.

There is no logic in dividing party responsibility between the office of governor and lieutenant governor. A Republican governor should be backed up by a Republican lieutenant governor; a Democratic governor by a Democratic lieutenant governor.

Mr. Herbert's opponent is John W. Donahy, who should be supported by voters who favor Michael V. DiSalle for governor.

What's Chinese for 'Sidewinder'?

While Washington continues to crack its official knuckles over Red China's decision to lay off any further bombardment of Quemoy at this time and to hope that Peiping may finally have worked up an appetite for peace, there is a further fascinating possibility to think about.

Red China's apparent change of heart may not have been a change of heart but a change of mind dictated by a gadget that weighs 155 pounds and bears the improbable name of "Sidewinder," named after a rattlesnake.

It is a possibility worth thinking about, because it represents a neglected aspect of what critics of John Foster Dulles like to call his "brinkmanship."

Whereas the ordinary hopeful Henry in the United States keeps hoping the practitioners of brinkmanship see no hope for Henry.

They believe there always will be a bothersome percentage of this world that will dismiss peace as the hallucination by which weaklings are softened up for the kill.

When Secretary of State Dulles practices brinkmanship, he is trying to beat the stronglings at their own game. Having estimated the risks and decided the advantages lie with him, he makes a point of proving to them that the United States will not be the first to back away from the brink of war.

That is where the 155-pound gadget called "Sidewinder" enters the picture.

It is a rocket launched from an airplane to seek down and destroy another airplane in the air — a fatalistic mission it carries out by means of a guidance system based on infrared rays.

This system is responsive to the heat generated by the target plane. Once "Sidewinder" has been headed in the right direction, it is sure death. At a speed of some 1,900 miles an hour, it is a bolt from the blue—so deadly the Red Chinese complained about unfair competition — so conclusive that National Chinese pilots flying relatively slow U.S. jets practically chased Red China's Russian-built planes out of the air over the Quemoy Straits.

Once Over

Looking back on the world series from a TV seat, it was a great tribute to outdoor sport and indoor driving. Never have so few shaved so often for so many.

The National League excelled in the down strokes, but the American League did better on the upstroke and crossways. Mortimer Topblower, who saw every game by video, describes the recent series in the following letter:

"Hi — I didn't really need a shave, but I decided to cover the series on TV just the same. I may not have come out of it as an expert on crucial baseball clashes but I know all there is to know on destroying facial bacteria, instant lather and how useless a ballplayer would be today if he used an old-fashioned razor.

"The series came out about as I had expected, with or without soap, and I was held spellbound in the dramatic moments involving base hits, double plays, precision edges, blue blades and 79-cent values. I am a light bearded baseball fan myself but I had a heavy-bearded fan on my right and a medium bearded guy on my left, and we all enjoyed the game equally. It was clear from the start that the players had shaved intensely for this classic.

"Me! Allen was okay but I missed his ice-box and beer. 'Brewer's Gold' never got into the lineup, which was a disappointment to me, as I am the type that will never settle for a razor blade as a cool refresher.

"I thought the women's hair conditioner with the hidden body feature did well in this series. Chevron gasoline appeared only in the pinches, but, after all, too much can't be expected of it in a short series.

"Baseball is a great game and I am satisfied a world series can now be enjoyed without cutting my chin or discovering I have missed a few whiskers under my left ear."

In due time, Red Chinese aviators may have some counterpart of one of the most fearful weapons of all time. Suffice it to say that if they had such a thing now there would be no talk of a cease-fire agreement in Quemoy Straits.

Further suffice it to say that when cease-fire agreements are talked about they are more likely to be the result of a successful act of brinkmanship than statesmanship, under today's foreseeable circumstances.

If Red China has decided that Quemoy, Matsu and other assorted real estate are not worth a war, the hero of the showdown may be a blunt instrument weighing 155 pounds named for a rattlesnake.

'Twick 'er Tweet'

Nostalgic memories of Halloween mischief lead most of us oldsters to note with approval how today's children enjoy their "trick or treat" promenading throughout the neighborhoods.

The tiny tikes, their pretty faces hidden by assorted masks, usually managed to speak out their "twick 'er tweet" challenge and are rewarded by their adult benefactors.

This year, however, the mayor and acting chief of police have set the dates of Oct. 29, 30 and 31 for official "trick or treat" days.

This is a sensible plan because some of the older children rush the season and make a nuisance of themselves before Halloween week actually arrives. If parents cooperate, Operation Trick or Treat can be a happy time the 29th, 30th and 31st.

A man who twice took a plane from New Jersey and landed it by night in a New York street says it was due to "those lousy drinks." They really get a man high. Extra strong drinks are current and on some of them a fellow can feel the urge to make a moon flight. It is nothing unusual at a cocktail party to encounter drinkers with that "pardon me but I must take off into the wild blue yonder" expression. Martinis are being made so strong that after two drinks you cry, "Look, I'm a jet plane."

We suppose obnoxious cargoes mean those life-of-the-party tourists. George Meany did the mediating. He understood sea problems, after all those tossings around by Hurricane Hoffa.

The Reluctant Oliver Twist

State Department and the Public

By PETER EDSON

U. S. State Department over the past 15 years has developed quite a system for keeping a finger on the public pulse. It's done principally through Public Services and Public Studies divisions under Assistant Secretary Andrew J. Berding.

There are several purposes. One is to see if U.S. foreign policy is properly understood and is getting across to the general public. Another is to make sure that foreign policy decisions are in line with what the American public will support. Finally, there is an opportunity for the State Department to answer or straighten out its most vocal and sometimes confused critics.

AS A GENERAL RULE, says Maurice S. Rice, in charge of the Public Services division, taxpayers don't write in to the State Department to say "You're doing fine, keep it up." The people who approve keep silent.

People sound off when they have something to complain about or protest against. It is for this reason that the department insists it fan mail does not provide an accurate poll of cross-section opinion on foreign policy.

In the year ended last June 30, State Department received about 65,000 letters from the public. That is a lot of mail. But it is less than half the 150,000 letters that poured in the year of the Suez Canal crisis.

Only a small percentage is crank mail. But there is always somebody with a screwy plan or a vision to report on how to achieve world peace.

Three-fourths of the mail makes sense and gets an answer. Five young foreign service officers are detailed to handling this mail. A lot of the mail falls in patterns which can get similar replies. When obvious pressure group campaigns are detected, duplicated form letters go out. But when a new situation arises, a careful reply is drafted which becomes a model for future answers.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS fan mail drops off in the summer when people have other things to do than write to Secretary Dulles. Movement of troops into Lebanon last July brought little reaction.

September's cooler weather happened to coincide with the latest crisis over Formosa: Quemoy and Matsu, so the mail picked up again. For about ten days it drew 1,000 letters a day. The total so far is around 170,000.

Most of this mail was a protest over the possibility of getting the United States involved in another war. The department insists it was not wholly a criticism of China policy.

This contention is based on the more careful appraisals of the American peoples' reaction to foreign policies made by the Public Studies division under H. Schuyler Foster Jr.

ALL HIS OFFICE DOES is this: Read foreign policy editorials of 100 daily newspapers and the foreign policy comments of 32 syndicated columnists. Transcribe pertinent passages of broadcasts from leading radio and TV commentators, interviews, forums and panel shows. Review 52 weekly and monthly periodicals and published material from 60 private organizations. Study the Congressional Record for all statements on foreign policy. Survey public opinion polls. The department makes no polls of its own.

Digesting all this material, Public Studies divisions makes confidential reports to from 100 to 300 officials dealing with foreign policy. Among them are:

A daily summary of public opinion. These are later rounded up for a monthly opinion survey on foreign affairs.

Special summaries are also made in particular fields of international affairs on which the department wishes to keep close watch. There are weekly reports on the Far East, Germany and related European problems. There is a monthly report on American reaction to United Nations affairs and a quarterly report on Latin-American relations.

At irregular periods there are special reports on economic, labor or agricultural developments, the Near East, Africa or other areas warranting analysis.

Legal Segregation

By DAVID LAWRENCE

How Much 'Support' Can a Private School Get?

The U.S. Supreme Court has just ruled, in effect, that Girard College in Philadelphia may remain segregated—that it may close its doors to all pupils seeking admission unless they are "poor, white male orphans." This ruling should be an eye-opener to those persons who have been saying a private corporation in Arkansas or Virginia may not operate schools on a segregated basis. The question of how much "state support" a private institution can enjoy and still be segregated has never been defined by court rulings. A private college gets an exemption not only from real estate levies but also from income taxes. This is substantial "support" from the state.

The question of whether teachers who are on a state's payroll and who have time on their hands may volunteer their services, as a constitutional right in itself, has yet to be passed upon by the courts.

Whether any state buildings may be leased to a private corporation is also an unsettled problem, because the final test is whether the facility itself is publicly owned or controlled.

A mere transfer of property to a private institution without any responsibility by the state for the further use of such property by a private corporation is not much different from the circumstances that existed in the Girard College case just decided.

Originally, under the terms of the 1831 will of Stephen Girard, the city of Philadelphia was to act as trustee for Girard College. The state passed laws empowering the city to do this.

In 1937, however, both the state of Pennsylvania and the city of Philadelphia joined in declaring that the operation of the trusteeship was a form of "state action" and hence any discrimination between whites and Negroes was a violation of the 14th Amendment, even though the will specified that only "poor, white male orphans" should be admitted.

The highest court of Pennsylvania did not so regard it and the case went to the U.S. Supreme Court, which decided on April 29, 1957, that as long as the city of Philadelphia was the trustee, no discrimination could be practiced. Refusal to admit Negroes was held to be unconstitutional because the city is an instrumentality of the state of Pennsylvania.

THE MANAGEMENT of Girard College then asked the Orphans Court in Philadelphia to name 13 private trustees, instead of the city of Philadelphia. This was done, and the case was again taken to the courts.

The Pennsylvania Supreme Court approved the transfer. Then the Supreme Court of the United States last June refused to review the case, which means it concurred in what the Pennsylvania court had decided. An application for a rehearing was made, but it was turned down on Monday of this week, disposing of the entire matter.

But while the highest court here did not issue an opinion and merely denied a review, the implications of its action are bound to be far-reaching. A careful reading of the opinion handed down by the Pennsylvania high court—which presumably is the "law of the land" now in such matters—makes it clear that this court considered "segregation" an irrelevant issue.

It declared that the only rights involved were those of the private college to fulfill the terms of a will under private trustees. The court added that there was no constitutional right on the part of any Negro student to admission to Girard College.

In fact, the court said nobody except those children who were described in the Girard will had any constitutional rights of admission at all. This means that once an institution is privately owned and operated nobody has a constitutional right of admission if the management decides against such applicants.

The fact that the buildings may have been leased from a state government or a county and are not owned by the private company may be attacked in later litigation in Arkansas and Virginia, but it would appear that courts have no constitutional right to interfere with the opening of private schools or their operation simply because they lease facilities from a state and pay the same fee others pay.

The avowed object could be to carry on segregation. The right of the private institution to decide who shall or shall not enter its classes is plainly upheld now by the U.S. Supreme Court in its ruling on the Girard College case.

The words of the Pennsylvania high court's opinion are in this respect significant. The court said:

"Furthermore, if all that is necessary to constitute a denial of equal protection of the laws in violation of the 14th Amendment is state action and a racial or religious discrimination, then no private charity created by will can any longer dispense its benefits on the basis of race, creed or color according as its settlor has stipulated."

"What keeps such a charity, so created and restricted, from constituting a violation of the 'equal protection' clause of the 14th Amendment is that no one who does not come within the settlor's definition of beneficiary has a constitutionally protected right — or any right for that matter—to share in the charity's benefits."

CERTAINLY living citizens have no less rights than deceased citizens to specify their wishes. If it wasn't a "state action" for the city of Philadelphia to transfer to a private board of trustees the future operation of Girard College, it is difficult to see how there can be any federal interference with the legitimate transfer of school buildings from the school authorities in Virginia and Arkansas to private corporations.

The ultimate use of the property for a supposedly unconstitutional purpose has just been ruled in the Girard College case to be irrelevant.

There are many people who have mistakenly assumed that the U.S. Supreme Court in its 1954 decision ordered all racial discrimination in educational institutions in America abolished.

But the ruling on Monday of this week indicates to the contrary—that there are lawful ways to get around Supreme Court decisions on desegregation which cannot be properly called "evasive," though, indeed, they may be "ingenious." Ingenuity has not yet been declared unconstitutional.

Reviving Sales

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The recovery is bringing a pleasing flush to many business firms today. It's the touch of color they love—rising profits.

And the Wall Street bulls can point with pride too at this measure of justification of their bidding up of stock prices.

Earnings for the July, August and September quarter, now starting to flood in, show many corporations doing better than they did in the first part of the year. A sizable number also report doing better this year than last.

Reviving sales cut much of the credit. But cost cutting is playing a large part too.

General Electric, for example, reports its third-quarter profits set a record for the period, and were 6 per cent higher than in the July-September period of last year, although sales still trailed last year by about 4 per cent.

Giant American Telephone & Telegraph shows a nice profit gain over last year. Most utilities, in fact, are expected to report more profits than a year ago, reflecting the steady increase in household use of light and power offsetting any drop in industrial use.

Increasing numbers of corporations are predicting that the pickup in the third quarter will be accelerated in the fourth, bringing the total for 1958 up with or perhaps ahead of 1957.

put the first-quarter profits at an annual rate of 15 1/2 billion dollars. The better picture now leads it to estimate the total for the year will be about 18 billion.

Many textile firms, for example, are looking up. Among those showing a better third quarter this year than last (based on fiscal rather than calendar years) are J. P. Stevens, Wyandotte Worsted, Indian Head Mills and American Enka.

Minneapolis - Moline reports a strikingly better quarter this year than last, and Caterpillar tractor is well ahead, while Deere and J. I. Case report results for the first nine months top the 1957 period nicely.

Beatrice Foods reports a better third months this year. So do Safeway and Federated Department Stores.

Hooker Chemical and American Marietta are running ahead of last year, as is Celotex.

There are laggards, of course, companies that haven't yet turned the profits corner. But the general picture is much better than it was the first of the year.

Mrs. Andrew Menegos

Cincinnati Is Future Home Of Andrew Menegos, Bride

Cincinnati is the future home of Andrew Menegos and his bride, the former Helen Kaniakides, who were married Saturday morning at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church in Niles.

The Rev. Fr. Nicholas Aeroli was celebrant of the nuptial Mass which united in marriage the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Kaniakides of Niles and the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Menegos of 337 S. Ellsworth Ave.

The double ring ceremony was performed before an altar setting of palms and bouquets of white mums and carnations.

Joseph Bassett sang "Ave Maria" "On This Day" and "Mother at Thy Feet is Kneeling."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle. The fitted basque bodice featured a scooped neckline and long sleeves. The skirt featured inserts of nylon tulle, appliqued with seed pearls and sequins and ended in a chapel-length train.

A pill-box style crown of lace, seed pearls and sequins held her fingertip veil of silk illusion. She carried a crescent arrangement of white carnations centered with a white orchid. She also carried a pearl rosary belonging to her aunt, Mrs. Betty Ross.

Miss Mary Giangardella of Niles, maid of honor, was gowned in a floor-length frock of white lace and nylon over yellow taffeta. The gown was designed with a fitted bodice and a ruffled skirt. Yellow and white carnations formed her colonial bouquet. A yellow picture hat complete her ensemble.

Appearing in orchid gowns styled identical to that worn by the maid of honor were the bridesmaids, Rita Cluse, Ellen Mehall, and Gloria Verhosek of Niles and Koula Menegos of Salem. They carried colonial bouquets of orchid and white carnations.

Ed Verhosek of Niles was Mr. Menegos' best man. The ushers were Michael Menegos, George Kaniakides and Ronald Slutz of Niles and Michael Harold of Salem. Josy Guarino of Girard was ring bearer.

Mrs. Kaniakides was attired in a pink lace sheath, while Mrs. Menegos wore a dress of beige lace over blue taffeta. Both wore white carnation corsages.

Four hundred guests attended the reception at the McDonald Union Hall. The bride's table was centered with a five-tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Joe Guarino cut the cake, and aunts of the bride served.

The guests were present from Canton, Youngstown, Chicago, Cincinnati, Akron, Toronto, Ravenna and New York.

A graduate of Niles High School, the bride was employed by Loblaw's. Her husband graduated from Salem High School and is an engineering student at the University of Cincinnati. He is employed by the Electric Furnace Co.

The Merry Olds, "the car with the backward look," is full-scale replica of 1901 Oldsmobile. All-weather top is optional.

Distinctively flaring fenders proclaim the "all new" Surrey, modern version of a 1933 auto. Comes complete or in kit form.

The Rollsmobile, another "backward-looking" car, is two-thirds size of original 1901 Olds, is unencumbered with reverse gear.

Ever long for the old days, when automobiles were a novelty and when the term "horseless carriage" described them perfectly? If so, you have lots of company, for three manufacturers have translated this nostalgia into quite respectable production schedules. American Air Products Corp. of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., is the builder of the Merry Olds. The Surrey, built by Dyer Products Co. of Canton, Ohio, has approximately the same power and performance as the Olds. Slightly smaller than the others, the Rollsmobile is another replica of the 1901 Oldsmobile, also built in Fort Lauderdale, by the Starts Manufacturing Co. All three are faithful reproductions of antique cars, except for such new-fangled items as electric starters and sealed-beam headlights.

When more tear gas was poured into the cell block below, the last desperate face disappeared from the window. All avenues of possible escape had vanished. Stillness reigned.

One of the first prisoners who emerged from the cell block early in the rioting was Donald Zoren, who has confessed he killed Denver Patrolman Donald Seick last January.

The cell block was wrecked. Windows, brooms and brushes were battered. Mattresses were ripped open, and water had flooded the floor. Remnants of food served in trays to extremely angry prisoners housed in the two lower sections of the six-tier block were splattered on the walls and floor.

The maximum security cell block contains 103 of the jail's 738 prisoners.

Here's The Answer

Question: We plan to put up birch plywood on one wall of our living room. It is our intention to attach furring strips to the wall and then nail the plywood to the furring strips. The wall, which is plaster, is painted. Is it necessary to remove the paint or do anything to it before attaching the furring strips?

Answer: You need do nothing to the wall before putting up the furring strips. This would be true only if attaching the furring strips and plywood to a concrete wall below grade, in which case treatment of the concrete is sometimes advisable.

The Columbine III was due in Cedar Rapids in about 3½ hours, or at 10:45 a. m. (CST).

At Cedar Rapids, in the heart of the farm belt, Eisenhower planned an informal talk at the National Corn Picking Contest.

Mrs. Eisenhower, making part of the tour with the President, will visit the Cedar Rapids school where she attended kindergarten.

From Cedar Rapids, the President and his wife travel to Abilene, Kan., for an overnight stay in the town of his boyhood. No formal speeches are scheduled there.

The Eisenhowers will spend Saturday and Sunday in Denver visiting with the First Lady's ailing mother, Mrs. John S. Doud. Mrs. Eisenhower will stay on for a time after the President leaves.

Except for a brief airport speech during the 1956 campaign, it will be Eisenhower's first visit to the Colorado capital since he suffered a heart attack at his mother-in-law's home Sept. 24, 1955.

The major battleground of Eisenhower's campaign tour is California. He will be there Monday and Tuesday, with major speeches in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

The final address of the campaign will be in Chicago next Wednesday evening.

There was no advance word as to what extent Eisenhower would deal with foreign policy on this tour. In any event, indications were he would leave it mainly to Nixon and other Republicans to swat back at Democratic criticism in that field.

Eisenhower, in a telegram to the campaigning Nixon, said "our side" must reply to opposition attacks on day-to-day handling of foreign policy—as distinguished from criticism of the broad objectives, such as dedication to peace and the battle against Communist expansion.

"No one can do this more effectively than you," Eisenhower told Nixon.

Economic Upsurge Forecast by Speaker

EAST PALESTINE — An important, upswing in the nation's economy was forecast by Jacob O. Kamm of Cleveland, noted economist, college professor and businessman, at a dinner program of business and professional people in the high school Thursday night.

About 150 persons attended the event sponsored by the Union Commercial Bank.

Kamm, who has taught economics at Ohio State University and Baldwin Wallace College, said Ohio, because of the development of the St. Lawrence Seaway, will be at the forefront of the economic expansion.

The upsurge, which has already started, will be much more apparent in 1959, he said, and will be particularly noticed in the auto and steel industries.

Kamm said the current recession started in December of 1956 and reached its low ebb last April. Two factors which prevented the recession from becoming a national calamity were unemployment compensations and social security, he said.

The forecast production rate of 450 billion dollars compares with the recession low of $425,900,000,000 in the first quarter of the year.

This would mean that the economy had gained back, in nine months, all the ground lost since the summer of 1957 when the production rate was slightly over 445½ billion dollars a year. However, some of the rise is attributable to price inflation.

Salem Clobbers Wellsville 48-8 For Fourth Victory

Fine Blocking Keynotes Win; Ehrhart Scores 4 Touchdowns While Rushing For 168 Yards

By GORDON ARNDT

Most fans figured the Salem Quakers would clobber the Wellsville Bengals Friday night at Reilly Stadium and they weren't disappointed either as the Red and Black easily recorded their fourth win of the season in 6 tries by smashing the visiting Columbiana Countians 48-8.

It was strictly no contest as the Quakers registered seven touchdowns in their best outing of the season.

Salem found huge success around the Wellsville flanks and on off tackle slants. Ralph Ehrhart had his most productive contest of the year by rushing for 168 yards in 15 carries. He scored four touchdowns. His job was made easy too by the splendid blocking provided by his teammates.

Fine blocking on the part of the ran the ball once for nine yards. His performance was most encouraging. He is a junior.

Jones had his busiest night in kicking extra points. He made four out of five with the lone miss being blocked. He now has 8 of 14 for the year with four beng blocked and two just missing.

Early in the second quarter Wellsville marched to the Salem four yard line where they gained a first down.

However, the Quaker line held and forced the Bengals to relinquish possession.

Wellsville gained 114 yards passing and 64 rushing. Fullback Bob Delposen for Wellsville gained all but 10 of the rushing yards by running for 54 yards in 12 carries for a 4.5 average.

Fullback Lou Slaby ran the ball but twice for Salem and on each occasion experienced difficulty in holding onto the ball. Following his second carry, until a sub took his place, he was used strictly on defense. His place on offense was filled by Powell Schmauch.

It was "Mother's Night" last evening and they were all introduced at half time.

Salem's next game is at home Oct. 24 against Youngstown East, a team currently unbeaten and ranked eighth in the AP poll.

Salem linemen was the keynote of their victory. Wellsville just couldn't cope with getting a ball carrier when there were two and three blockers in front of him. When the tackle was made through the wave of Salem blockers the first down nevertheless had been recorded.

TWO OTHER outstanding features of the game were the quarterbacking of Vince Horning and the playing of the action-starved Salem sophomores.

Salem led 35-0 late in the third frame and when coach Earle Bruce began emptying his bench at this stage the sophomores let loose.

They played like youthful cubs just out of their den for the first time. They were down the field fast on kickoffs, rushed the passer swiftly and bottled up Wellsville's running attack at the line of scrimmage.

The visitors did however score their only TD with 56 seconds left on a pass from Bob Kiggins to Bob Brown in the end zone. The play covered 24 yards.

Salem's seven TD parade went like this:

First Quarter
Ehrhart ran a punt back to 70 yards. Wellsville was penalized 15 yards from the three yard line to the one on the extra point try. Lou Slaby then ran it over for an 8-0 lead.

Fred Phillis ran 51 yards from scrimmage on Salem's second running play of the game. Ben Jones converted and it was 15-0.

Second Quarter
Ehrhart crashed over right tackle from four yards out. Jones' kick was blocked and it stayed at 21-0.

Third Quarter
Ehrhart ran 15 yards on a slant. Jones converted again and it was 28-0.

Ehrhart went through tackle from three yards out. Jones converted for a 35-0 lead.

Fourth Quarter
Frank Copacia ran nine yards off tackle. Jones kicked good and it was 42-0.

Walt Callahan ran 12 yards off tackle. A Vince Horning pass on the conversion was broken up and it was 48-0 until the visitors scored with 56 seconds left.

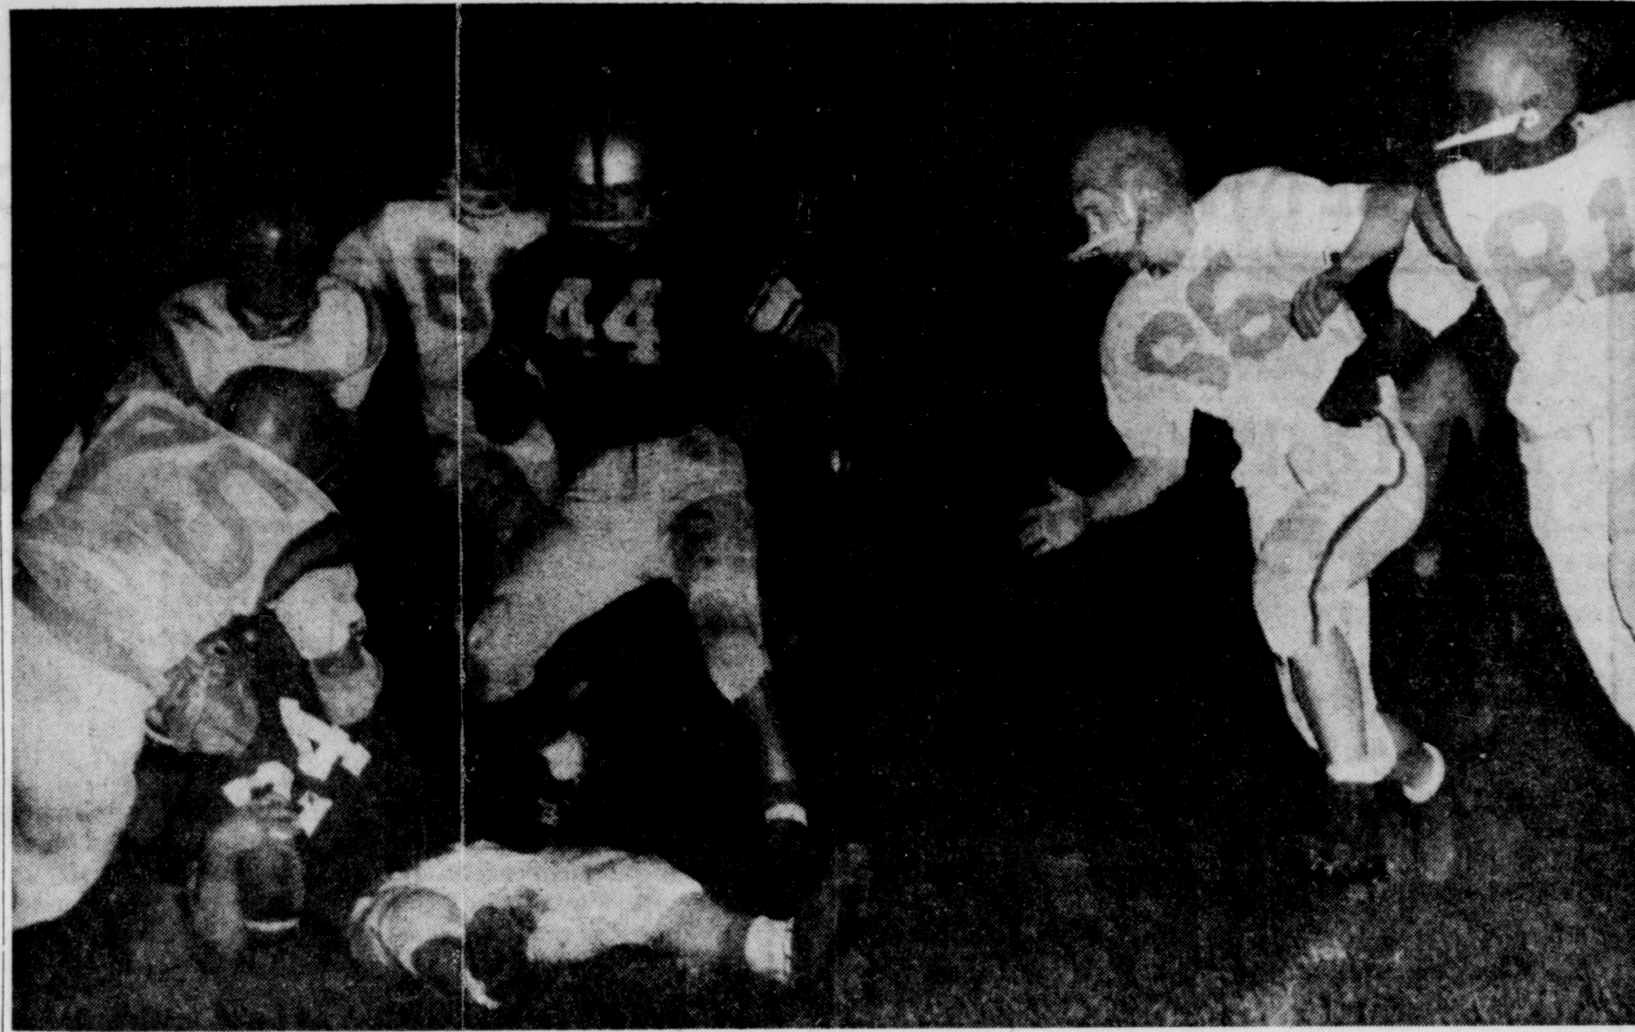

THE EFFECTIVENESS of Salem's blocking against an opposing line which outweighed them is brought out in the following figures.

The Quakers registered their biggest output in yards rushing with 403 while Ehrhart alone scored four touchdowns while gaining 168 yards in 15 carries for a 11.2 average.

Phillis notched 105 yards in six tries for a 17.5 average. Salem gained 83 yards through the air for a total of 486 for the contest, their best of the year.

The Quaker linemen were also vicious in their tackling. Three Wellsville players were removed from the game because of injuries. One man left on a stretcher.

GETTING BACK to Horning, he came into the game at the quarter-back post with 3:26 left in the third quarter. Before he left he had directed the team to three touchdowns besides completing three passes for 59 yards. He also SALEM-WELLSVILLE ACTION — Salem's Ralph Ehrhart was the big offensive show for the Quakers last night in their 48-8 win over Wellsville. He scored four touchdowns and rushed for 168 yards in 15 carries. In the top picture he is seen being stopped at the line of scrimmage in a second quarter run. Halfback Fred Phillis (44) arrives too late to help. Wellsville defenders are B. Delposen (75), P. Vernon (84), B. Brown (65) and J. Euill (81). In the bottom photo, Ehrhart is shown rounding end for 10 yards and a first down in the third quarter. Euill is about to make the tackle for Wellsville. Salem's Powell Schmauch (35) is seen in the background.

Defense-Minded Giants Meet In Saturday Gridiron Contests

By The Associated Press

To save a lot of unnecessary discussion on Sunday, one word will probably sum up the weekend college football activity: defense.

The only activity tonight finds Richmond at George Washington but Saturday there are several gigantic tugs of war on tap between a few of the defense-minded giants.

The offensive giants will have their say too, but they don't figure to be bothered too much.

Two of the best defensive struggles are at Madison, Wis., and Atlanta.

At Madison, unbeaten and third-ranked Wisconsin plays host to once-tied Iowa in the Big Ten's top game. The Badgers' defense has yielded only one touchdown—last week to Purdue in a 31-6 victory. Iowa is fifth in total offense and seventh in rushing offense.

At Atlanta, second-ranked Auburn first in total defense, first in rushing defense and second in passing defense, meets equally defense-minded Georgia Tech, fourth in over-all defense, in the Southeastern Conference game of the day.

Top-ranked Army, known more for its offense than for its No. 9 ranking in total defense and No. 3 in passing defense, plays Virginia, which travels to West Point minus ace passer Reece Whitley. The Cadets rank No. 2 in total offense and No. 3 in passing.

Fifth-ranked Michigan State with a 20-1 record, goes against once-beaten Purdue, ranked seventh in total defense while the Boilermakers are No. 5. The Big Ten's other top game features third-ranked Ohio State entertaining Indiana.

Sixth-ranked Navy, minus All-America tackle Bob Reifsnyder, meets winless Tulane (0-4) in the Oyster Bowl at Norfolk, Va. The Middles are undefeated in three games.

Texas (No. 7) is still in the clouds after last week's upset of Oklahoma, and may get a jolt from Arkansas, winless in four tries, in a Southwest Conference tilt. Something has to give when Mississippi, eight ranked, and No. 3 in rushing defense, meets Sammy Baugh's Hardin-Simmons Cowboys, No. 2 passing team in the nation.

Louisiana State puts its 4-0 record and No. 9 ranking on the line against a tough Kentucky team (2-2), while 10th-ranked Clemson is idle.

Oklahoma (No. 11), dropped from first place after last week's loss to Texas, plays Kansas in its Big Eight Conference opener.

Notre Dame (No. 12) plays Duke for the first time in history, acting to get some more offense started after its 14-2 loss to Army last week.

Oregon (No. 14), a defense-minded team, plays Washington State. The Webfoots are No. 7 in total defense, fifth in pass defense and eighth in total offense.

Chicago Black Hawks Are Surprise of NHL

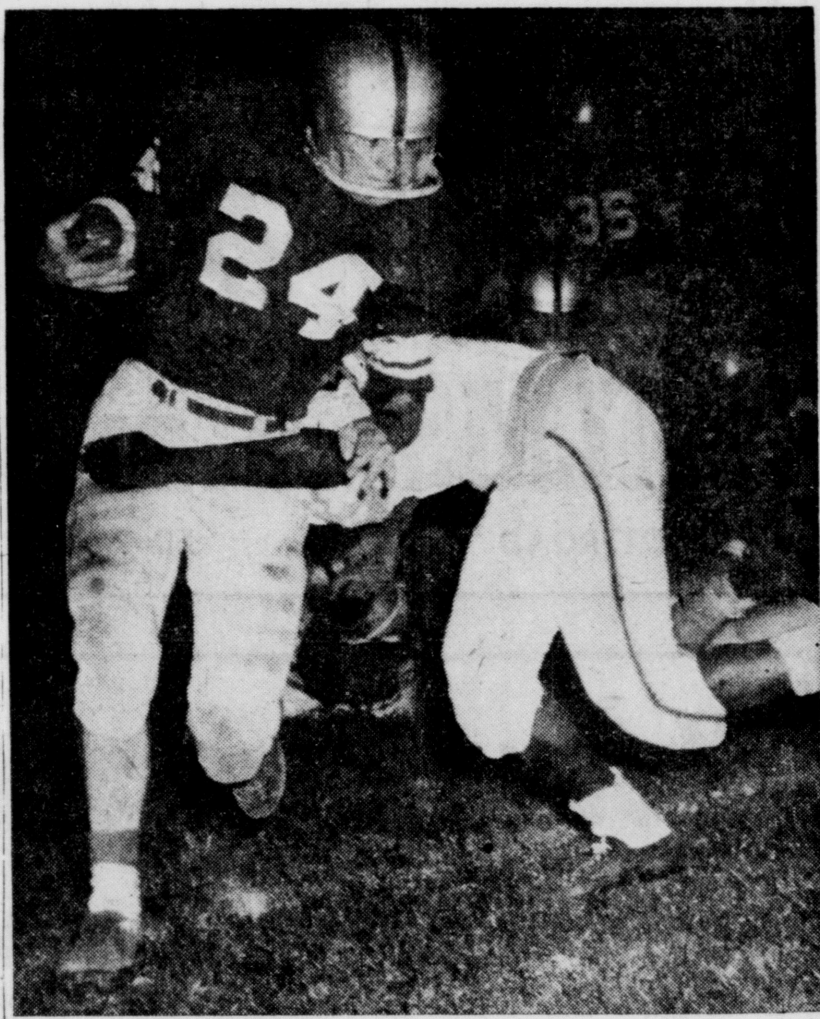

By The Associated Press

Could it be that the Chicago Black Hawks are going to be the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National Hockey League?

The baseball Pirates climbed from last place to second in the National League. Now the Hawks, who just managed to escape the cellar last year, are sitting atop the hockey circuit's standings locking down on even the powerful Montreal Canadiens.

The Hawks chalked up their third victory Thursday night with a surprising 7-2 victory over the Detroit Red Wings. The three triumphs plus a tie gives them a total of seven points, one more than the Canadiens, who turned back the Toronto Maple Leafs 4-3 with a third period rally.

Lorne Ferguson, former Redwing, and Eric Nesterenko paced the Hawks to their one-sided victory with two goals each. They each scored in the first period and added another in the final session.

Pedro Ramos Leads AL in Gopher Balls

NEW YORK (AP) — Washing-

ton's Pedro Ramos repeated as the American League gopher ball leader in 1958 but managed to cut down on his home run serves of a year ago when he set a league record. The Cuban right-hander gave up 36 home runs the past season as compared to 43 in 1957.

Don Newcombe of Cincinnati and Johnny Antonelli of San Francisco tied for the gopher ball title in the National League as Philadelphia's Robin Roberts yielded the "home runs off" crown he had worn since 1954.

Figures compiled by The Associated Press revealed that Newcombe and Antonelli permitted 31 homers apiece while Roberts was touched for 30.

Ramos gave up nine home runs each to Boston and Detroit, Jackie Jensen of the Red Sox hit five round-trippers off the Senators' right-hander.

Billy Pierce was runner-up in the American loop, being tagged for 33 homers. Then came Kansas City's Ralph Terry with 29, Detroit's Jim Bunning 28, and Chicago's Early Wynn 27.

Newcombe, traded from Los Angeles to Cincinnati in June, was solved for 11 homers in only 34 1-3 innings while a member of the Dodgers. Pittsburgh players hit eight four-baggers off him with Frank Thomas and Bill Mazeroski finding the range with three apiece.

Antonelli had the most trouble with Milwaukee batsmen, who hit seven homers off him, Los Angeles and Chicago tapped him for five apiece.

Roberts, who set a big league standard of 46 gopher ball tosses in 1956, had given up 319 homers since joining the Phils in 1948. The durable right-hander topped the NL with 40 homers off in 1957 and also led in 1954 and 1955.

Milwaukee's Warren Spahn was fourth in 1958 with 29 homers allowed, followed by Harvey Haddix of Cincinnati with 28.

$2,863 Difference Between Yanks, Braves Series Shares

NEW YORK (AP) — The difference between winning and losing the 1958 World Series meant $2,863 for each member of the New York Yankees who received a full series share.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick disclosed the distribution Thursday. The Yanks voted 32 full winning shares amounting to $8,759 each. A full losing slice for each of 31 Milwaukee players was worth $5,896.

The winning share for the Yanks was $165 less than the Braves players got after beating New York in the 1957 series. Milwaukee had 30 full shares last year. The losing share for the Braves this season amounted to $290 more than that of the 1957 Yanks who divided 33 full shares.

Virgil Trucks, who joined the Yanks in mid-June, received a full share. A three-fourth share, worth $6,569.33, was accorded Murry Dickson, who was acquired from Kansas City in late August.

A half-share of $4,379.954 went to Sal Maglie, who was released by New York in mid-June. Fritz Brickell, Bobby Del Greco and Johnny James, all of whom played briefly, received one-fourth shares. Last Monday Frick revealed that he had paid 22 Milwaukee players $50 apiece for premature disclosure of their financial breakdown. The commissioner said, "I fined only 22 because they were the only ones eligible to vote on the series' cuts. A player must be on the roster June 1 and remain until the end of the season to be permitted to be at the meeting."

The breakdown of the other first division clubs: American League — Chicago White Sox, 32 full shares, $1,518.94; Boston Red Sox, 32, $995.90; Cleveland Indians, 28, $518.61. National League — Pittsburgh Pirates, 32, $1,507.04; San Francisco Giants, 28, $1,031.14; Cincinnati Redlegs, 30, $567.23.

Indiana Tests Unbeaten Bucks

83,000 Expected For Columbus Tilt

COLUMBUS, Ohio AP — Indiana's Hoosiers, who have beaten Ohio State only six times in 34 Western Conference tries, go against the unbeaten Bucks here Saturday before some 83,000 fans. And the odds-makers figure the invaders are due for another drubbing. A year ago Ohio romped to a 56-0 conquest over the side-saddle offense of the Hoosiers. This time the Bucks are 21-point favorites.

The Hoosiers figure to be better than in 1957 when they were held to 24 yards rushing, had five passes intercepted and surrendered the ball four times on fumbles to the brawny Bucks.

Coach Phil Dickens watched last year's rout from the stands as he sat out a year's suspension occasioned by some recruiting maneuvers frowned upon by the conference. Now he's back, has discarded the lady-like offense, and comes to town with a 1-2 record after losing to Notre Dame 18-0, nosing out West Virginia 13-12, and bowing to Iowa 34-13.

Opposing coaches have found a way to snub, to some extent, the devastating ground attack of the Bucks by jamming up the center. But whether the Indiana forwards are capable of doing the job is problematical, since they will be out-weighted drastically.

Ohio, however, isn't taking the Hoosiers lightly — at least the coaching staff isn't. They remember that dark day in 1951 when Indiana came to Columbus a three-touchdown underdog and went home with a 32-10 conquest in one of the big upsets in stadium history.

Coach Woody Hayes of the Ohioans has often said "Any Big Ten team is capable of beating any other Big Ten team on any given day," and he's taking no chances on it happening to him again.

The Bucks have won three in a row — none to impressively. They kicked SMU by three points, Washington by five and Illinois by six — far off last year's pace. Including the Rose Bowl, Ohio has won its last four by a margin of 17.

The Ohioans figure to be at top strength for Saturday's fray, with shoulder healed and the other Bucks having recovered from various bumps and bruises.

Indiana will offer three Ohio residents in its starting lineup — Ted Aucreman of Lancaster will be at end, Tony Aloisio of Chillicothe at center, and Bill Kerr of Steubenville at guard.

Dickens said he had serious shortcomings in both speed and agility in new newly-adopted single wing offense. Speaking of Ohio's huge line and devastating ball-toting corps, Dickens observed:

"We're not equipped to face that kind of power."
The kickoff's at 2 p.m., est.

Many Teams Using 2-Point Conversion

NEW YORK (AP) — Regardless of what other schools might think about it, the University of South Carolina undoubtedly would give a rousing vote for the new rule allowing a team to try for one or two points after scoring a touchdown.

The Gamecocks, with a 2-2 record, have scored five touchdowns and have added 10 points by means of three passes and two runs.

The National Collegiate Service Bureau figures show that 10 major college football teams have taken advantage of the rule to try for two points, and 14 of the more conservative teams have used only placements for the one point. West Virginia, with 20 extra points on 17 touchdowns, and Houston, with 19 on 16 touchdowns, have added the most extra points to date. Both have used a mixture of passing, running and kicking.

Nine schools have tried for two points after every touchdown they have scored. Washington State has passed or run after each of its 13 touchdowns, and College of Pacific has tried for two after each of its 12 touchdowns. The other teams which have gone all out for two points are Harvard, Holy Cross, Tulane, Furman, George Washington, Marquette and Oregon State.

On the other side of the fence, Colorado has employed the kick after each of its 16 touchdowns. Mississippi has done the same after 11. The other real conservatives are Colgate, Alabama, Georgia Tech, Miami (Fla.), Indiana, Minnesota, Kansas, Nebraska, Rice, Hardin-Simmons, Washington and Idaho. They have yet to try for two.

North Texas State has tried for the two points most often. After 18 touchdowns, it forward passed 17 times (eight successfully) and kicked just once.

Other high-scoring teams which have shown a preference for the new rule are California, which has tried for two after all but one of its 15 touchdowns; Arizona State, with 10 runs or passes after 12 touchdowns; Syracuse, 10 of 14; Navy, 8 of 9; Clemson, 8 of 10; TCU, 8 of 12, and Michigan State, 7 of 10. Their success has been just so-so.

TWO ARE FINED HERE

Two persons were fined a total of $56 Thursday by Mayor Harold D. Smith. Russell P. Robb, 28, of New Philadelphia, was fined $50 for fictitious plates and Delbert W. Gillespie, 28, of Barboursburg was fined $6 for reckless operation.

Europe's Top Horse Enters American Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Ballymoss, Europe's most famous horse in recent years, is going to get a chance to show he can beat all comers, whether they be American, Australian, English, Italian, German, French or Russian.

The 4-year-old Irish-bred colt, for whom John McShane paid $13,230 as a yearling, has been officially entered the Nov. 11 running of the $100,000 Washington D.C. International at Laurel.

McShane, Philadelphia contractor, advised President John Schapiro of Laurel Thursday night that his colt is ready for the 1 1/4 mile test on the grass course. Ballymoss was invited last year but forced to withdraw because of an injury.

Addition of the Irish colt gives the International a field of seven with at least four more to be invited. Acceptances have been received for Sailor's Guide, Australia; Tanerko, France; Orsini, Germany; Clem, United States and Garmyr and Zampyd of Russia.

Shapiro has in mind Aggressor, favorite for the Cambridgehire in England Oct. 29; Revoke from Argentina; Sedan from Italy, who goes in that country's equivalent to the Jockey Club Gold Cup Sunday and another one from the United States. The latter may come from Saturday's running of the Jockey Club Gold Cup at Belmont Park if either Warhead or Martins Rullah wins over Clem.

Erdelatz' Jitterbug Defense Proves Effective Weapon

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — (NEA) — This is a college football season noteworthy for two reasons. For one thing, this fall marks the 25th anniversary of repeal. Which is, if you have ever sat on a piece of splintery board through four quarters, the more important by far.

The other, we are advised by Navy's Eddie Erdelatz, is taking place on the lined stadium crab-grass. The colleges, he maintains, are starting to change their entire outlook on the sport. They have not gone so far as to tolerate ordinary students on squads, but as Coach Erdelatz sees it huge strides have been made nonetheless.

"The jitterbug defense," he says, in a reference to his own creation, "has changed the game. From now on everybody will be playing a wide-open style, army, with that lonesome end flanker, and Oklahoma, with its spread stuff, are outstanding examples. By next year everybody will be doing it."

"The jitterbug raises so much trouble with regular attacks that something had to be done. So they started looking to burn us out on the outside. It is the obvious way to combat the jitterbug. Spread out and loosen up the whole thing."

THE JITTERBUG, as viewed from the stands, is an orderly conglomeration of linemen and linebackers hopping in and out, side to side, in a continuous flow of movement which never really seems to stop until the ball has been snapped and the play is on. It is done basically to confuse offensive blocking. A tackle will be in his place when the other team breaks from the huddle. By the time they reach the line of scrimmage, the tackle will be a linebacker. At the snap, he will be in the line, but a full step over from where he originally began. This jumping is done by all members of the Navy defending line.

EDDIE ERDELATZ
"Jitterbug on the inhale"

It can put an intolerable load on a blocker, Erdelatz notes. Many times an offensive lineman will shift over a half leg or so to get nearer a Navy lineman. He not only keys the play by doing so, but makes it a simple matter for a linebacker to barrel into the backfield.

"THEY TRIED EVERYTHING," Eddie says, "Running plays on the 'set,' for example. (The opening word in a quarterback's chant.) But we still jitterbug. The quarterback has to inhale to say 'set.' So we jitterbug on the inhale and are in a completely new set-up by the time the boy can croak the word."

"The only way out of it is to shoot for the outside. I had a talk with Bud Wilkinson at Oklahoma on the phone. He's doing things he never tried before. And I know Red Blaik is at West Point."

"Flankers, pitch-outs, outside stuff, that'll be the rule. And the jitterbug did it."

As for repeal, Erdelatz professed ignorance of the silver anniversary's effect on crowds. There appears, however, to be a powerful trend toward vodka. But one scout reports that a visit to Yale Bowl found the Ivy League the stronghold of martini parties in

It's Your Pocketbook

The woman who cleans our apartment has an uncluttered mind. She applies determined logic each week to the task of transforming chaos into order. She wastes no time on idle chatter, but when she speaks, her factual philosophy staggers you.

"There aren't any more poor people in this country," she remarked the other day. "Don't let anyone tell you there are."

What is her explanation?

"Social security-welfare benefits, government handouts, if you need them."

It hasn't taken her long to figure what the increased benefits just written into the social security law will mean. Nor has she stopped figuring. Instead, she has started a program to gear her savings to supplement this income. Her friend owns some AT&T. She is wondering about owning some, too. She explains that she carries insurance and has bought government bonds.

Whether this woman knows it or not, she is looking at her social security retirement income from two viewpoints.

THE FIRST VIEWPOINT is appreciation for what she will receive. To match the $657.60 tax-free income that she will get each year upon retirement, she would have to have $16,440 invested and earn a 4 per cent return on this investment.

Second, knowing so specifically what she will receive, she is more aware of what she will need.

Year by year, social security is becoming an increasingly important factor in retirement programs. As the number of retired persons grows, it will be an increasingly important factor in stabilizing our economy, confirming our cleaning woman's statement that "there aren't any more poor people in this country."

It was only eight years ago when the maximum monthly benefit—available after 40 years of covered employment—was $56 monthly for a single person, $84 for a married couple. Effective with the social security checks that will be received next February, single persons will be receiving up to $116 a month against the current $108.50 and married couples $174 against the present $162.80.

AT THE END OF the current year payrolls will be taxed 2½ per cent on $4,800 yearly income instead of the current 2½ per cent on $4,200. On this basis single persons will be entitled up to $127 a month, married couples $190 and a widow or widower with two dependent children $232.10. A married man with no children would need more than $82,500 invested at 4 per cent to get this much tax-free income monthly.

It is none too early, regardless of how many years off your retirement might be, to begin planning insurance and investment programs that will supplement your social security.

Those who should be planning the most carefully are the self-employed. When Congress adjourned, the Senate had failed to pass the Jenkins-Keogh bill which would have allowed self-employed persons to put aside 10 per cent of their earnings in any one year, or up to $2,500 tax-free in a private retirement fund.

The next meeting will be formal initiation at Heck's Restaurant at Columbiana, the date to be announced later.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Locust Grove Church Organ To Be Dedicated

Dedication of the new organ will be held at the 11 a.m. worship service Sunday in the Locust Grove Baptist Church. Frank Fuller, organist at the St. John's Episcopal Church in Youngstown for 30 years, will be guest speaker. The Rev. Fred McKnight, pastor, will lead the congregation in the act of dedication. The church choir, under the direction of Mrs. John Marshall, will sing "Laudamus," a Welsh chorale. Mr. Fuller will also play for the worship service. A sacred concert entitled "Sing Unto the Lord" is planned for 8 p.m. It will include selections by the church choir, organ selections by Harry Roller, organist and selections by the male quartet comprised of LeRoy Weikart Jr., David Kurtz, Robert Noble and Kenneth Roller.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

In a voice dripping with disgust, Sen. John McClellan today told this reporter that he would quit his famous racket-busting committee unless Congress passed some racket-busting law during the next series of probings into the underworld.

It was more than the long-distance telephone wire which cracked as the senator talked from his office in Little Rock, McClellan said he and his colleagues had "worked our hearts out" but nothing has happened.

"There simply is no use in doing that if there is no legislation—for we have exposed and we'll continue to expose. We know how to expose and the Congress knows how to legislate, so I'll quit the committee at the end of the next congressional session if there are no laws," the senator said.

"That will be sometime in August 1959. It's absolutely necessary to keep going through this coming session."

"WE'VE STILL GOT some scandals the staff has uncovered. We've enough for hearings through the '59 session. But what's the use of going into '60 if we have no laws passed next year?"

What of the Senate Select Committee's future plans? The senator disclosed that the main hearings he believed the committee would run this year would be probings into four or five cases of "secondary boycotts." This refers to the refusal of a union to handle "not cargo."

In such instances, one union refuses to work for a firm which is shopping, handling or purchasing products coming from another firm against which there is a strike. Thus, for example, a firm with no labor trouble can get plenty of it if it buys its supplies from a struck company 2,000 miles away.

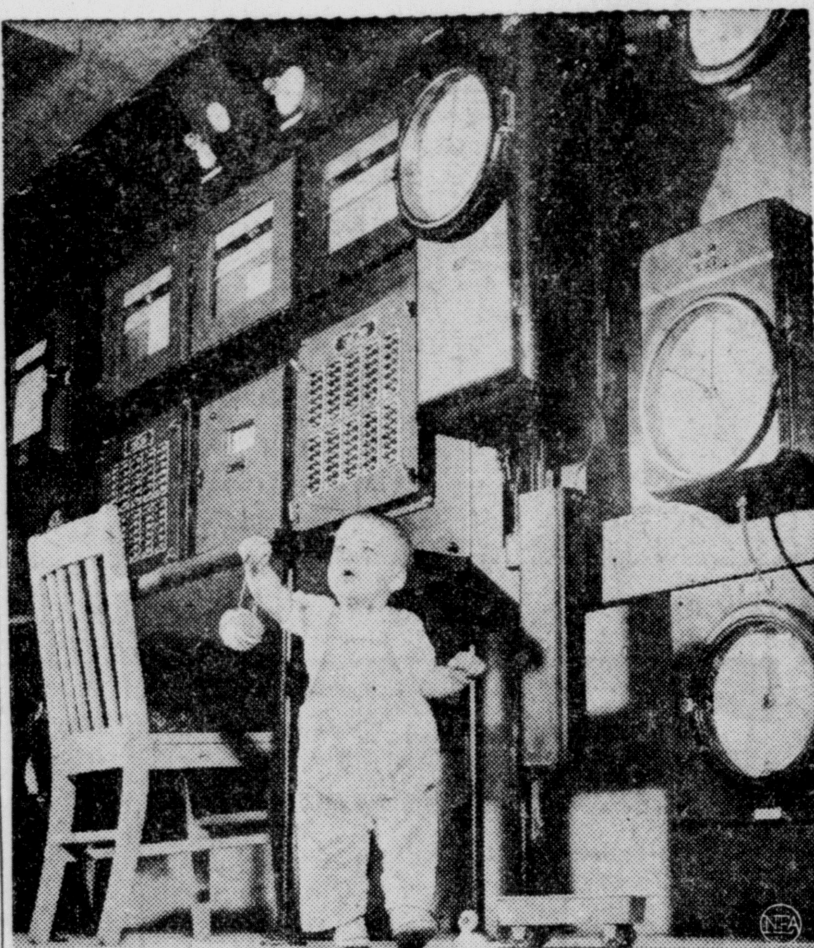

After these sessions in November, McClellan doesn't think there will be any further hearings until late next January or February. Then he will hold a final series of public probes until August. During this time the senator will push for anti-racket laws.

IN AUGUST, McClellan believes the time will come for whipping together a final report to the Congress. There might be those who want to continue into '60, he says, but "What's the use if we get no laws."

Stirring the senator's bitterness is the knowledge that very little has changed after two years of probing—and that big-time scandals are brewing and breaking all over the land.

For example, several new federal grand juries will be impaneled between now and Oct. 22 in the Southern District of New York where the McClellan Committee chief counsel, Robert Kennedy, found the first scandals. Special Justice Department units have been working for more than six months gathering evidence.

At the same time, across the river in Newark, N.J., the authorities have discovered that over

"THIS IS WHERE I LIVE" — Although 11-month-old David Wright is too young to know it, he lives and plays in a very strange house. David and his parents are the occupants of a living laboratory in Urbana, Ill. His daddy, scientist Richard Wright of the University of Illinois, helps direct a research project on how best to heat or cool a home. Their $40,000 "test tube" house includes every form of current home construction in its design. Eight miles of wire connect 475 temperature-measuring locations with a central control system, where David is standing above. The house was built by the National Warm Air Heating and Air Conditioning Association.

$300,000, not just $200,000 as originally reported, disappeared from the treasury and two welfare funds of Local 21 of the Retail Clerks Union. This union covers employees of three big department stores — Bambergers, Kleins and Lerner's.

CHECKS WERE DRAWN on the funds by one union official without so much as informing the employer-trustees of the welfare operations. The local district attorney and the police are just beginning to discover the enormity of the looting — which went on right through the public probing of other unions.

Everywhere there has been such crooked business-as-usual despite the spotlight on the Senate committee's hearings. For example, there are reports that the committee plans to start quiet preliminary analysis of Texas racketeers. The timetable calls for action on Nov. 12 — though there have been no details on what the investigators have found.

And at such in-between points as Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, Miami and St. Louis, the probes have been piling up what they report is evidence of other multimillion dollar labor rackets.

If the new Congress wants action, it will have to prove it by acting itself.

Food Afloat

By HAL BOYLE

ABOARD THE S.S. BRASIL AT SEA (AP)—Anyone who wants to enjoy eating with a clear conscience can do no better today than to go to sea.

Ashore it is getting so a man is afraid to show any pleasure in food. If he eats more than five peanuts at a cocktail party, he winds up with a sense of guilt. He worries: "Am I shortening my life?"

Food is no longer food but a form of medical fuel measured in calories which one doles out to oneself as if he were an engine instead of a human being. As a matter of fact, many people feed their motor cars better than they do themselves.

But at sea, this attitude disappears. Food is recognized again for what it really is—one of mankind's greatest blessings. Good eating regains its true stature as one of civilization's finest arts.

My wife, Frances, and our daughter, Tracy Ann and I are embarked on a 31-day voyage to South America. It is the maiden voyage of the beautiful new Moore-McCormack liner Brasil, the largest passenger liner ever built in Dixie.

So far I have been gaining weight at the rate of half a pound a day, and loving every ounce of it. No one has mentioned aloud the word calorie.

If you put an extra pat of butter on your baked potato, no one thinks it is in compensation for mother love you missed in childhood. If you essay the salmon steak before wading into the rock Cornish hen and wild rice, no one suggests: "You're eating to hide a secret anxiety."

Dining is no longer an exercise in self-denial but a ceremonial ritual of robust healthy joy. Passengers who have to dose themselves with digestive pellets at home if they eat a biscuit for breakfast are now wading through five-to-seven-course dinners and going to bed feeling wonderful.

The once-ailing stomachs are holding up fine. It's the girdles that are showing signs of strain.

At sea the air is like wine, and the wine is like air. You don't tell time by clocks but by your appetite. Breakfast's at 8; bouillon at 11; lunch at 1 p.m.; tea, with four kinds of cakes and cookies, at 4:30 and dinner at 8. Then, at 11:30 p.m. there's a loaded buffet table to snack on and keep from starving overnight.

If this ship should sink unexpectedly, there's one consoling thought. They wouldn't have to hurry the rescue. The average passenger would float comfortably for at least five days.
